

Free Webinar Brings Entrepreneurs Up to Speed On the Power of Virtual Teams

Melanie Benson Strick, founder of Success Connections, has taken the fear out of expansion for a lot of up-and-coming entrepreneurs by showing them a new way to growth and success. Not one to keep a good thing under wraps, Strick has just announced a new webinar – a 90-minute seminar on the web – that will bring this unconventional business model the attention it deserves.

Most people in business would agree that profit is key, and they would expect to work long and hard to make their mark. But Strick shows you how to accomplish more by working less with the Virtual Teams program, the latest way to get a business on the fast track.

Strick has spent the last several years helping business owners get on track and stay in the black, including her own business. Her unique coaching methods and extensive line of support materials have made her the go-to person for entrepreneurs and small business owners needing help with innovative strategies to accomplish more in less time.

“This webinar is for people who see themselves having a great business and successful career, but are having some trouble and getting sidetracked along the way,” says Strick. “They need real, practical solutions that are easy to implement and have almost immediate impact.”

Strick found the Virtual Teams business model, or rather it found her, when she did a series of interviews with five leading entrepreneurs to see where they were spending their time and energy, and how they seemed to get things done so fast. Those interviews showed her that they weren't doing everything themselves.

“Virtual Team Building Secrets’ helps the entrepreneur to concentrate on their business, and learn how to let go of the stuff that gets them stuck in the horizontal growth mode,” Strick said.

The webinar is free and open to the public, but you must be registered to participate. The registration form can be found at

<http://www.virtualteambuildingsecrets.com/secretweapon/>

In addition, once you've registered you'll also have access to the recording.

Melanie Benson Strick, "The Entrepreneur's Success Coach," offers keynotes speeches, mentoring, training and products designed to get people out of overwhelm and onto the success fast-track. For more information visit www.successconnections.com.

###